

Foreign Policy Of Eisenhower Is Challenged

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration appeared today to have accepted the challenge to a foreign policy showdown with opponents of Charles E. (Chip) Bohlen's nomination as ambassador to Russia.

Nearly all of those opponents in the Senate are Republicans. Friends of Bohlen said the career foreign service officer had no thought of asking President Eisenhower to withdraw his name. And White House Press Secretary James Hagerty said there was "no change" in the situation there.

The nominee had a case of measles which forced a delay until tomorrow of a new hearing on his appointment by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. It was originally set for today.

Sen. Bridges (R-NH) predicted there will be from 15 to 20 votes against Bohlen in the Senate.

Like a mild case of measles when you're 48, that might be a little embarrassing to Bohlen, but not serious. It would require a majority of the Senate to reject his nomination—49 senators if all 96 were on hand and voted. No senator has predicted Bohlen's nomination will be turned down. Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich) last night predicted easy confirmation. Ferguson said he hasn't made up his mind how he will vote.

If the foreign relations committee votes tomorrow, the nomination might be brought to the Senate floor for confirmation Friday. The administration has said it is anxious to speed Bohlen to Moscow for a first-hand look at the new Malenkov regime.

Home Of Union Officer Burned

SILVER CITY, N. M. (AP)—A hearing was set for the district attorney's office today to delve into the cause of a fire which last night destroyed the home of a union officer.

Sheriff Owen C. Matthews asked all concerned parties to meet with him for an informal airing of opinions in the burning of the home of Floyd Bostick, warden-custodian of Local 890 of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers.

Destruction of Bostick's home marked the third time this month that fire has touched property connected with the controversial union. Clinton Jencks, international union representative, connected the burning with the prominent part Bostick played in the recent filming of a controversial movie here. The picture, "Salt of the Earth," was labeled a Communist weapon on the floor of Congress.

Enraged citizens threatened the moviemakers and they left town. Bostick's three children, alone in the house, escaped without injury. The three-room frame house and Bostick's possessions were a total loss.

Ship Scuttled

PANAMA, Panama (AP)—Firemen scuttled the Ecuadorian ship Ecuador in the Canal Zone's Cristobal harbor last night after an unsuccessful nine-hour battle to put out a fire racking the 882-ton vessel. The ship was sunk to prevent the spread of flames to other shipping in the port.

Spiritual Diary For Lent

They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint.—Isaiah 40:31.

To face the world with courage and certain hope, accepting joy with gladness and pain without complaint—to be charitable in judgment, broad in understanding—to think little of self and much of others—to trust in God at noonday, or in midnight's darkened hour—to see life as a daring adventure in which the soul must never yield defeat—and finally to approach the end with firm step, uplifted glance, and face turned toward the stars—surely this is victorious living.—Alfred Grant Walton

TODAY'S MESSAGE

The redeemer nature seeks the higher altitudes of the Spirit. The carnal nature seeks the low altitudes of the flesh. Modern mechanics have overcome the law of gravitation so that men may fly aloft in defiance of the physical law that would pull them down. The gravitation of sin is in the flesh, but the indwelling Holy Spirit in the Christian lifts him into the higher altitudes with God, where he receives the renewed strength that issues in the ability to perform the tasks of life; to overcome the difficulties of life; and to conquer in the battles of life.

The secret of victorious Christian living is with them who, through waiting upon the Lord, rise to the higher spiritual altitudes with Him. The soul that dwells in these uplands, and breathes their invigorating atmosphere of faith and hope and love and peace and joy and assurance, will run without weariness and walk without fainting.

TODAY'S PRAYER

Our Heavenly Father, may we ever seek those things that are above, where Christ is and, through godly living, so adorn our holy religion that others may see Jesus in us and want Him too. For His sake. Amen.

Get-tough Policy Advocated To Put Russians On Spot

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Cooper of Kentucky said today the sort of get-tough policy toward Russia urged by two of his fellow Republicans would sound the "death knell" to any hopes of peaceful settlement.

Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) told the Senate yesterday the United States should immediately seek to persuade the United Nations to brand Russia as an aggressor in Korea.

Knowland advocated the action as part of a program to bring an immediate cold war showdown with the Communists. A second point would be a request from this country that all U. N. members withdraw recognition of Red China. A third was a complete blockade of Red China.

Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.), appearing on an MBS radio interview last night, said the U. N. should take a firm stand toward what he termed "treason by Russia to the United Nations."

Ferguson said he disagreed with Cooper's contention that a get-tough policy might touch off a new world war, and he added: "I can't see that we can cause Russia to take any step she doesn't want to take when she wants to take it."

Knowland is chairman of the Republican Policy Committee, but he emphasized yesterday he was voicing only his own convictions.

He took the floor the day after Georgi Malenkov, the new Soviet Premier, had said peaceful settlement of the issues between this country and Russia was possible. Knowland's comment: "Deeds rather than words would be more impressive."

The officials were commenting upon published reports that the Russians have been making periodic survey flights over North America.

Officials said unidentified craft have made some flights over Alaska and Northern Canada. They said none of possible Russian origin had been seen and none had been intercepted by U. S. craft.

One official said there was considerable evidence some Russian flights had been made, although not on a discernible pattern. And he said there had been no recent increase in indirect spottings.

The distance separating Russian and U. S. territory over the Bering Strait is about 60 miles.

the sudden arrest of the veteran schoolman climaxed the latest of a series of school enrollment-peddling scandals in the state which have pointed up Michigan's financial burdens.

The warrant against Smith, who is 51, was issued at the request of Assistant Attorney General Perry A. Maynard to Sanilac County Prosecutor Maurice F. Peterson.

Two former schoolmen here, Clarence A. Carlson, former high school principal, and Robert L. McConchey, former grade school principal, were named co-conspirators, though not co-defendants.

Military Needs To Delay U. S. Budget Balance

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Cooper (R-Ky) called on President Eisenhower today to lay before Congress a fully rounded program for U. S. military security even if necessary outlays delay budget balancing.

And Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader, said Congress will support such a presidential military decision despite the feelings of members who "would trim our defense program to what they consider the needs of our budget rather than trimming our budget to the needs of the defense program."

Nation Unprepared

Cooper said in an interview he fears Johnson was right in telling the Senate yesterday that this country is unprepared for a total war into which it might be thrust "in a matter of hours."

The Kentucky senator said he will urge the Senate Armed Services Committee, of which he is a member, to broaden its scheduled investigation of the ammunition situation into a full-scale inquiry into supplies of planes, guns, ships and other equipment.

He said this could give Congress a clearer idea of what is needed to meet any possible Russian attack, but he added that the lawmakers must depend on the President's final decision.

Security First

"I think the country would accept President's decision on military needs and I hope he sends us a message outlining a fully rounded program," Cooper said.

"If the funds needed are so large that we can't balance the budget, then security must come first."

Eisenhower has made it clear he wants a balanced budget in the year beginning July 1 and Sen. Taft of Ohio, the Republican leader, has predicted military outlays will be cut to attain that goal.

Dulles To Visit In Middle East

By JOHN SCALI

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles plans to leave around May 10 on a flying visit to 10 key Middle Eastern and Southeast Asia countries.

Informed officials who disclosed arrangements for the trip today said Dulles' visit would be the first ever undertaken to the Middle East by an American secretary of state.

The secretary's main aim, they said, is to strengthen American relations with the Arab world and speed the building of a Middle East defense alliance against communism.

Dulles plans to travel by special plane during the two-week tour, stopping in Egypt, Iraq, Syria, Lebanon, Saudi Arabia, Hashemite Jordan, Libya, Israel, India and Pakistan.

He tentatively plans to bypass Iran, possibly to show the U. S. stands firm with Britain in the latest proposals to settle the Iranian oil controversy.

Dulles reportedly will concentrate on two immediate problems: (1) persuading Israel and the Arab states to find a lasting peace settlement to replace the present shaky truce; (2) trying to convince India and Pakistan to settle their bitter differences over Kashmir.

Tito Will Have Tea With Queen

LONDON (AP)—Marshall Tito met young Queen Elizabeth II in Buckingham Palace today. This served as a clear sign to the world—the Kremlin included—that the Yugoslav Dictator has made the grade socially in the West.

It also marked the first time Britain's Queen has sat across a luncheon table from a wartime Communist guerrilla chieftain-turned-dictator. But in this cold war period Tito is a dictator with a difference—he is feuding with Soviet Russia.

Tito drove to the palace after taking in the British Museum and the ancient Tower of London. A heavy police guard surrounded him on the rubbernecking visit to some of the great tourist sights of the city. It was done at high speed.

For the meeting with the Queen, Tito changed back into brilliant uniform.

More than two dozen guests were at the luncheon party, including the Queen's husband, the Duke of Edinburgh; the Queen Mother Elizabeth; Princess Margaret and Prime Minister Churchill.

Lansing Legislators Prepare To Tackle Pressing Problems

Chinese Reds Can't Dent Allied Line; 315 Dead In Attack

By FORREST EDWARDS

SEOUL (AP)—American infantrymen today virtually wiped out a force of more than 350 Chinese Reds attacking U. S. 2nd Division positions on the Korean Western Front.

An Eighth Army briefing officer said 315 Communists were estimated killed or wounded in the bloody, close-quarter battle which raged 7½ hours inside the Allied trench network on Little Gibraltar Hill.

Stevenson Watches

Adlai Stevenson, U. S. 1952 Democratic presidential nominee, watched part of the fighting from an observation bunker on a nearby hill. Two Chinese artillery shells exploded on the hill—some 350 yards from the bunker—but the former Illinois governor was not even shaken.

The Chinese attempt to dent the Allied line in the area—about nine miles west of Yonchon—resulted in the heaviest ground fighting in several weeks.

"It was a knockdown, drag-out fight for hours," commented a division spokesman.

Two reinforced Chinese companies began the assault at 2 a. m. under cover of a 3,000-round artillery and mortar barrage. The Reds scrambled up Little Gibraltar's slopes and clawed through Allied barbed wire to get into the trenches.

Mowed Down On Slope

American machine guns mowed down scores on the slope and in the barbed wire. Those who reached the crest were killed, wounded or beaten back by Americans battling with sidearms, grenades, automatic weapons, bayonets and—in some cases—rifle butts.

The spokesman said two more Chinese companies trying to back up the assault were held at bay by a curtain of Allied artillery fire.

The Eighth Army briefing officer reported later that 65 Chinese dead were counted, another 130 estimated killed and at least 120 estimated wounded. The Americans completed mopping up the battle area at 10 a. m.

Soldiers Have Close View Of Nuclear Blast

By BILL BECKER

ATOM BOMB SITE, Nev. (AP)—Dawn came in with an atomic rumble today for 1,000 troops and hundreds of other observers on Yucca Flat—The soldiers and some newsmen closer than any human has been since Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

Two combat battalion teams and 20 reporters only two miles from the 300-foot tower where the blast flared at 5:20 a. m. (8:20 a. m. (EST)) came through unscathed.

Bounces Over Mountains

The low, fiery blast sucked dust from the desert floor into a whirling, purplish-red fireball, but little heat was felt by observers on News Nob, seven miles away.

The shock of the blast was sharp and bounced over the mountains ringing the test site to crack down as far away as Pasadena, Calif., it was announced here. In Las Vegas, nearest sizeable city to the site, 75 miles away, it flared a brilliant white, over nearly half the horizon, then turned yellow before finally fading away into pink. But it caused no excitement, and only a few residents reported feeling the sound wave.

The test was designed primarily to gauge how houses and cars would come through a real blast. The Federal Civil Defense Administration built two two-story homes on the proving ground and scattered nearly 70 cars among the Joshua trees.

One House Smashed

The closer of two civil defense houses being tested was believed to be smashed, but a light appeared to be burning in the vicinity of the more distant house, 7,500 feet from the tower. The two 2,000, two-story homes were erected to help architects design houses with maximum protection.

City Valuation Is $15,526,688; Over 10% Boost

The total assessed valuation of real and personal property in Escanaba for tax purposes this year hit a new high — $15,526,688—the largest in the history of the city.

The boost was $1,867,434 or better than 10 per cent above the 1952 total assessed value of $13,659,254 for the city.

There were two reasons for the unusual increase:

1 — A flat 10 per cent boost ordered by the Delta County Board of Supervisors on all taxable property in the county to offset an anticipated county deficit. This amounted to $1,365,925 valuation raise in Escanaba.

2 — New construction and new property valuation in the city, amounting to $501,509.

Highest In History
Whether the city of Escanaba will apply the present tax rate on the increased valuations has not been determined. The City Council has discussed the possibility of reducing the city tax rate to compensate in part for the valuation boost.

The climb in valuations is revealed in figures from the office of the city assessor:

1923 — $9,386,036.
1933 — $8,435,177.
1943 — $7,950,420.
1953 — $15,526,688.

The climb in property valuations began in 1945 with a revaluation ordered by the City Council. The same firm, the Clemishaw company, was afterward employed by Gladstone and the townships to make a reappraisal of their properties, with a consequent increase in the county's total valuation.

City Rate Not Set
Inequities in assessed valuation were eliminated as a result of the reappraisal, but many of the township supervisors complained that the Clemishaw figures were in error.

The city tax rate has gone down and up during the past 30 years.

In 1923 the city tax rate was $15.64 per $1,000 assessed valuation; in 1933 it was $14.45; in 1943 $13.96.

Last year the city rate totaled $17.44, including $2.50 per thousand for street maintenance program. The $2.50 per thousand was put on by vote of the Council in 1951.

Should the City Council reduce the city tax rate to compensate in part for the boost in property valuation it will still not relieve the taxpayer from paying the full levy for county and schools on the increased valuation. The county and school tax rates are already set by the county tax allocation commission.

Ore Shipping:

Goal Is 6½ Million Tons; May Start Here March 25

Ore shipping from the two Chicago & North Western docks at Escanaba is hoped to be started by March 25 and the goal for the 1953 season is 6½ million tons of iron ore, George C. Stuart, superintendent of the C&NW Peninsula Division, yesterday told the Escanaba Rotary Club.

Inland Steel intends that its first boat of the season will arrive at Escanaba for ore on March 25, depending on ice conditions, Stuart reported. Bay ice is 10 to 12 inches thick and is not expected to adversely affect the navigation opening.

The goal of 6½ million tons—1 million tons above last year—was established at a recent meeting of C&NW Railway officials and mining company representatives in Chicago, which Stuart attended.

For 37 Companies
A steel strike last year that lasted for 58 days halted shipping and reduced the anticipated movement of ore from Escanaba by 1 million tons.

Stuart presented an over-all picture of the iron ore movement from the mines on the Gogebic, Menominee and Marquette ranges to the docks at Escanaba for loading into boats. Ore is handled here for 37 companies, and 57 mixtures of iron ore are prepared here for shipment.

The various grades of iron ore are mixed as they come into the yards and to the ore docks, requiring a considerable amount of switching for the railroad, Stuart explained. The mixes are made according to the orders received by the railroad from the mines to supply the smelting companies.

Last 100 Years
In the early days of mining better ore was discarded than the iron ore now being mined, but through new processes the lower grade ores are now being utilized by the steel industry, Stuart explained.

Usually there is 59.1 per cent iron in ore, but today taconite with 57 per cent iron in the ore is being successfully used.

What about the future of the Great Lakes iron ore business? Stuart said that the importation of Canadian and Venezuelan ore will make little difference. Shipping will continue as now "for at least another 100 years," he said.

New Mines Opening
Most of the ore shipped from Escanaba comes from the Menominee iron range but additional ore is expected next year from the Marquette range with the opening of a new mine there.

Of the total 6½ million tons quota for 1953, it is expected that 4½ million tons will come from the Menominee range, 1½ million tons from the Gogebic range, and one-half million tons from the Marquette range, Stuart said.

The two docks at Escanaba rate fourth on the Great Lakes in the tonnage of ore handled. No. 5 dock is 2,225 feet long, has 216 useable pockets; No. 6 dock is 1,920 feet long and has 320 pockets.

The C&NW spent $215,000 in dock repair this winter. The immense cost of replacing the docks, should that become necessary, is indicated by Stuart's statement that one new steel and concrete ore dock would cost $16 to $18 million.

The Rush Season
One hundred and twenty-five men are employed on the two docks by the C&NW during the shipping season. Boats are loaded in two to two and one-half hours. The average boat cargo was 9,000 tons of ore last season.

The rush season in ore shipping starts in May and continues through October, requiring close scheduling of ore shipping from the mine and the arrival of boats at the dock to maintain a continuous flow of ore, Stuart reported.

To move the ore trains from the mines to Escanaba the C&NW has 28 diesel units and 22 switch engines.

"By next year the C&NW will have only diesels in this area except during the ore shipping season," Stuart reported. "We hope to get away from some of that black smoke we've accused of dropping around here."

Lower water levels may mean that dredging will be necessary at the docks here. There is 26 feet of water at the docks and some boats loaded to capacity draw 23½ feet of water, Stuart said.

18 Delta Men Are Drafted

Eighteen Delta County men passed induction examinations at Milwaukee and were assigned to Fort Sheridan, Ill., March 12, the Delta County Selective Service Board has been notified.

An Escanaba man, Donald Joseph Koish, 114 N. 24th St., who led the induction group from Escanaba to Milwaukee, was also selected to lead the induction group to Fort Sheridan.

Forty-eight men were in the contingent leaving Milwaukee for Fort Sheridan. Koish is the third Escanaba man selected in the past several months to lead the induction group from Milwaukee.

In April, the Delta draft board will need to supply 15 men for induction examination. Clerk Mary Wagner reports. The April group will leave Escanaba at 5 p. m., April 8.

To date no further word has been received by the draft board on the April preinduction call. In February the board was advised there would be no pre-induction examination in April.

The men who passed induction tests at Milwaukee this month are as follows:

Escanaba—Donald Joseph Koish, Thomas John Gasman, Emil Alfred Couinard, Clinton James Britz, John Frederick Laundre, Robert James Brebner, William Ronald Thennes, Robert Joseph LaFleur and Loren Lind.

Gladstone—Lawrence Edward LaPlant, Glenn Allen Haglund, Lawrence Theodore Lavelle and James Victor Standing.

Garden—Donald Keith Polmattier, James Edward LaCost.

Escanaba Kiwanians Hear Howard Gramlich On 'Confusing Times'
Howard J. Gramlich, director of forestry and agricultural development for the C&N.W. railroad, entertained the Escanaba Kiwanis Club at the House of Ludington Monday noon in a talk called "These Confusing Times."

The speaker summed up some of the items of modern progress which have speeded up life in America and added to the confusion of living. Because of this speedup, people are retiring younger today, Mr. Gramlich said, and he advised his listeners to take up a hobby for the enjoyment of their later years.

"Just so we don't become sourpusses," the commentator added.

A problem in food production to feed an ever-growing population was seen by the farm development director. Urban non-farmers are spreading out from cities to reside on former farming land, the speaker said, and the situation was likely to become more acute as crop land goes out of circulation.

Mr. Gramlich was introduced by Les Deno, division engineer of the C. & N. W. at Escanaba, who was program chairman for the day.

NEW HEART AID — This tiny plastic part, shaped like a pop bottle, is medicine's newest aid in heart surgery. It is intended to relieve a condition in which blood flows backward in a heart damaged by rheumatic fever. Use of the aid in the operation, called the "Bottle-Baffle," has been successful in 14 cases.

EHS Will Send 98 To Music Festival

Ninety-eight music students from Escanaba Senior High school, including 13 soloists, will participate in a vocal and ensemble music festival in Marquette Saturday, music director Bob Meyers, said today.

The students will be accompanied to Northern Michigan College of Education by Miss Norma Latola, Miss Jeanne Bunks and Director Meyers. Miss Bunks and Miss Latola are high school and grade school music instructors, respectively.

Fourteen instrumental ensembles and 15 vocal ensembles from EHS are entered in the festival. The best performers in the day-long program will be selected to perform for an evening program.

Each soloist and ensemble unit will receive a comment sheet prepared by adjudicators showing good points, weak points and suggestions for improvement.

The festival is designed to give students an incentive to work in small groups and as soloists after high school graduation, and an opportunity to see students from other communities perform.

Community Backs Senior Class Trip To Washington

POWERS-SPALDING — Over 299 people in the Powers-Spalding area, in true community spirit, boosted the funds which the senior class is raising for the biggest project of its scholastic career, a trip to Washington, D. C., when they attended a party dinner given in the lunch room of the school. The tables were decorated with shamrocks, posters, green pigs, shamrock plants and hats, symbolic of old St. Pat himself. The dinner was served by the seniors. The boys saw that no time was lost in the serving.

It is the wish of the class to take the trip to Washington, D. C., this spring during the latter part of May. Members of the class realize the expense of such an undertaking, but they are prepared to work hard to meet their goal.

A representative of the Greyhound Bus company visited the school and gave the class an estimate of the cost of chartering a bus for the trip. He also outlined the itinerary for the trip, and gave some helpful hints for economizing along the way.

Plans for raising funds have been carried through. The class has had candy sales in school each week which have been very successful, and more sales are scheduled to follow during the ensuing weeks. A bake sale has been held; others will be held if necessary. The merchants in the area have been very cooperative in donating space in their stores for such sales.

Combining the efforts of the Powers-Spalding seniors with the efforts of the seniors at Pinecrest, this year's Sundial, the school yearbook, is the largest in the school history and will help to swell the class treasury.

The students hope to raise the biggest part of the needed amount by staging a carnival April 9 at the Powers hall. There will be concessions, candy sales and fortune telling.

A trip to the nation's capital will provide not only a memorable career of the members of the class at the school, but will give them a better understanding and insight to the workings of the government. Washington, D. C., will then mean more to them than a picture in a civics book.

WDBC Case Is Scheduled In Court April 7

Judge Herman Dehnke of Harrisville has been appointed to hear a suit for accounting against Frank J. Lindenthal and George D. Lindenthal for their handling of the funds of the late John P. Norton. Circuit Judge Glenn W. Jackson said this morning.

Hearing of the case will begin April 7 in Delta County court-house.

Dehnke was appointed by Judge Joseph A. Moynihan, of Detroit, presiding circuit judge, to hear the case in which the Delta Broadcasting Company is co-defendant. The Delta Broadcasting Company operates radio station WDBC in Escanaba.

Judge Jackson is unable to hear the case himself, he said, because his eyes will not permit him to handle at this time the extra work that the accounting suit would entail. Judge Jackson submitted to an operation on his eyes at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., last year and although he is recovering satisfactorily and has returned to the bench, his doctor has advised him against excessive strain on his eyes.

The suit was originally commenced by Norton May 18, 1950. Norton died July 12, 1950, and Atty. James A. Frost, executor of the Norton estate, filed a new suit January 31, 1952.

The bill of complaint filed by Frost alleged the defendants "in violation of the trusts reposed in them" have since March 1950 "consistently attempted to prevent, obstruct and hinder" auditors of Norton and of his estate "from making a proper audit" of Delta Broadcasting Company.

The Lindenthal brothers denied most of the allegations made against them in Frost's complaint, in separate answers filed in April 1952.

Escanaba Paper Co. Wins Safety Plaque

A safety plaque signifying it was "the safest mill in the Mead Corporation for the past year" was presented last night at a dinner in the Delta Hotel to E. G. Bennett, president and general manager of the Escanaba Paper Co. by Talbot Mead, vice-president of the corporation.

About 105 attended the dinner which was in honor of retiring members of the paper company's safety committee.

The plaque was donated some years ago by George H. Mead, founder of the corporation, for competition among the different divisions of the corporation. It is kept a year by the winner, and if won three times is kept permanently.

Local Enforcement Is Recommended To Cut Accidents

The Escanaba Police Department is participating with other law enforcement agencies in Michigan in the Traffic Safety Program for the month of March, Glen S. Leonard, Escanaba safety director, announced today.

The program has been developed by the State Safety Commission and supporting agencies and is aimed at more effective enforcement of driver license laws.

National authorities have pointed out that the most effective way to prevent accidents is to make driver licenses harder to get and harder to keep, and one of the best ways to improve the condition is to enforce the laws on the local level, Leonard said.

During 1952 the Escanaba Police Department issued 58 summons for No Operator's License and 34 summons for having No Operator's License on Person.

During the same period the police department cited 7 persons for re-examination by the Commissioner of the Michigan State Police because of bad driving records. The police department is making a special effort to discover those applicants who are weak in driving ability or are unwilling to obey traffic laws.

The department believes that any motorist who habitually commits hazardous violations should have his license suspended, and when such drivers are discovered the department recommends that they be re-examined by the state authorities.

OLD MAN RIVER

FT. MACLEOD, Canada (AP)—The provincial government is dredging a new channel for the old Man River north of its present course. The river changes course from year to year and the new channel is expected to prevent further encroachment near the town.

The Escanaba Police Department during the month of March is giving special attention to violations of the licensing laws.

Leonard pointed out to all motorists that the possession of a driver's license is not a right but a privilege for which the driver must qualify by examination and for which they must drive safely to justify the retention of the privilege.

WHEN ARTHRITIS STRUCK I COULDN'T EVEN DO MY HOUSEWORK

MRS. MINA ALLEN, 27 CONGRESS STREET, A LIFELONG RESIDENT OF BATTLE CREEK, SUFFERED SUCH SEVERE PAIN FROM ARTHRITIS SHE THOUGHT HER HIP WAS OUT OF JOINT. O-JIB-WA BITTERS BROUGHT HER COMPLETE RELIEF. READ HER STORY BELOW.

"Arthritis struck me almost overnight. It settled in my back and hips, and put me right down. I couldn't get out of bed and had to have my cousin come in to do my housework. The pain was so severe that it felt like my hip was out of joint. I tried so many things just trying to get some relief, that I can't begin to remember them all, and aspirin was the only thing I found that helped me, and that only eased the pain temporarily. Then I saw O-JIB-WA BITTERS advertised in my newspaper, and decided to try that too. I was quite surprised from the results I received from the first bottle. It stopped most of my pain, and I could sleep well again for the first time in ages. Now I have completed my second bottle and want to say that my pains are completely gone. I do all my own housework and even my washing and often do others when they need assistance. You will be interested in knowing that my husband is taking your medicine also, and although he still has trouble getting around the house, he says he sure wouldn't be without it as before he started taking O-Jib-Wa he was right down in bed and couldn't even turn over. He has improved so greatly all ready that he can at least get around the house, and can drive the car again. We are so happy with O-JIB-WA BITTERS that we would be glad to tell other people about it. O-JIB-WA BITTERS not only relieved our arthritis, but built up our vitality and made us feel so much better in every way."

Poor Response To Red Cross

Escanaba's response has been poor to the current Red Cross fund drive, declared Gordon Jensen, drive chairman, last night at a meeting of Delta County Red Cross leaders in the Sherman Hotel. Escanaba's quota is $11,000.

Gladstone response, on the other hand, has been excellent. Harold Mackie, Gladstone chairman, reported, $1,666 of a quota of $3,137 has been brought in, and the Gladstone drive will be wound up by the end of this week, Mackie predicted.

Townships throughout the county were reported making a good showing. Jensen said that 70 percent of township returns are in. Quota for county townships is $5,800.

Itemizing the poor Escanaba response, Jensen said that returns from Escanaba industries are about 50 percent complete. House-to-house solicitation is approximately 65 percent complete.

Returns from the business district are about 35 percent complete. However, Jensen said, in this case many potential contributors have not yet been solicited.

Professional men and churches, solicited by mail before the drive officially opened, gave only a 20 percent response, Jensen said.

Present at the meeting were membership drive chairman, chairmen of the various Red Cross services, and the Delta County Red Cross board of directors.

Rapid River Man Fined For Using Improper License

Delbert Mosier of Rapid River was assessed fines totaling $32 and court costs of $6.30 when he pleaded guilty before Justice A. T. Sahlberg in Gladstone Monday to charges of improper use of license plates, failure to have trailer license registration on his person and using an expired chauffeur's license.

Mosier was arrested Feb. 24 by Michigan State Police.

Police reported that Mosier was using a license on a logging trailer issued for a 2-wheel trailer. He paid a $50 fine after pleading guilty to this charge, and $1 fine on each of the two other counts.

Hail To U.P. Cage Champs! Good Luck In State Tourney

HAIL to the champions — Manistique Emeralds in Class B, St. Joseph of Escanaba in Class C, Gwinn in Class D and Nahma Arrows, repeat state champions in Class E.

The victory of the St. Joseph Trojans in the Upper Peninsula Class C tournament at Houghton was a particularly gratifying one to the Trojans fans. This was the third successive year that the Trojans fought their way to the final round in U. P. competition but in the previous two years the St. Joseph team was defeated in the championship game. This year they came through with the title in two hectic games, snatching victory in the closing seconds of each game.

The Emeralds of Manistique likewise are basking in a moment of well earned glory, the result of their victory over Negaunee in the finals of the Class B tournament at Negaunee. The championship won by the Emeralds climaxed the most successful basketball season in the history of the Manistique High School. The Emeralds today stand alone in the undefeated ranks, a remarkable achievement.

St. Joseph and Manistique, together with Gwinn in Class D, open their bid for state honors tomorrow in games at Mount Pleasant. The Nahma Arrows already have the state Class E championship wrapped up, as there is no Class E competition below the Straits of Mackinac.

He's Lucky, at That

OUR heart goes out to an anonymous engraver in England. He must be one of that country's most respected and skilled craftsmen, for he was chosen to do the engraving on the official coronation medal. The design, by Sculptor Paul Vincze, shows a profile head of Queen Elizabeth II, surrounded by Her Majesty's name and titles. It was a beautiful job of engraving, except for one thing—the "Z" in "Elizabeth" was backward. The error was not discovered until scores of proof medals had been struck off and distributed in Britain and the U. S.

There is no report on what happened to the hapless engraver. Undoubtedly he received a severe reprimand. Possibly, he was fired. But we're pretty sure he is not in the Tower of London, awaiting the headsman's axe.

Whatever his fate, we can't help speculating on what would have happened to him if he had been a Russian engraver, working on an obituary medal of Stalin and had got the "S" backward.

Power With Words

By Dr. C. E. Funk

Had I given this the title "Words of Pellicidity," I doubt that anyone would read it. Somehow pellucidity (PELL-yu-SID-i-ti) looks and sounds forbidding, not a word that one would be likely to use conversationally. But it means "clearness." Its adjective, pellucid (pell-LOO-sid), meaning "clear," is commonly used, especially by poets, in describing a shining clearness such as that seen through a crystal. But we also call a clear style of writing pellucid.

Another word of clearness is limpid (LIM-pid). But when we use this we have in mind a liquid clearness, such as the limpid water of a rippling stream, or we may use it poetically, as, "eyes of limpid, turquoise blue."

That is transparent which permits objects to show through it—Latin trans, through, pareo, show—with entire clearness and without distortion. The windshield of one's car is transparent, and so are the tinted glasses one wears as protection against the glare of the sun.

Although translucent (trans- or trance-LOO-sent) is usually said to be a synonym of clear, I should rather regard it as meaning semitransparent. To be sure, we use lucid—from Latin lucidus, brilliant—to mean bright, shining, clear, but translucent, though from the same source, has its meaning somewhat modified. That is translucent through which light passes. A stained-glass window, glowing with color from the light behind, translucent, yet no object can be seen through the glass.

The Doctor Says . . . Exertion Causes Some Leg Cramps By Making Blood Supply Drop

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D. — Written for NEA Service

It would be grand, if we could all feel the way we did at 20 the rest of our lives, but unfortunately, this rarely the case.

Q—Please discuss occasional cramps in the muscles in the calf of the legs. Also, if easily fatigued in older years, can this be helped by diet or by the use of a vitamin?

A—The letter implies that the cramps in the legs come on from time to time and are not present constantly. If they develop following walking a few blocks or climbing stairs, the condition is generally known as intermittent claudication. Under such circumstances the cramps and pain are brought about by insufficient blood supply. Unfortunately, usually the only thing which can be done is to try to stop the exertion before the cramps appear.

Fatigue is more common in the elderly than in the young, just because the body is not able to perform so much in the latter years. Although an effort should always be made to have a satisfactory diet and to get sufficient vitamins, it is doubtful that any change in these would have any particular effect on fatigue in older years.

Over Production Of Butter Poses Problem

SECRETARY of Agriculture Benson has made his first critical move. It was not a decision for government retrenchment in farm price supports, as might have been expected from some of Benson's public statements. It was, rather, for their continuance in the vital dairy field.

The law gives Benson the option to set dairy price supports for the year starting April 1 at a level from 75 to 90 per cent of parity. Parity is a price level calculated to assure the farmer his fair share of the national income.

For the current year supports on dairy products had been fixed at 90 per cent Benson announced he will continue them at the same level.

But, though this decision is of course pleasing to the farmers immediately concerned and may help to arrest a long decline in general farm prices, it also poses other problems acutely.

High support prices for butter, particularly, have encouraged production of an unmarketable surplus. The artificial props under butter prices have turned more and more housewives to margarine, which sells in many urban markets at a price 50 cents a pound cheaper than butter. U. S. butter consumption has slipped from 10.7 pounds per person each year to 8.7 pounds, and is still dropping.

The result is that the butter producer is turning out record output—currently 35 per cent greater than last year—and finding no takers but the government. To maintain prices, the U. S. has been buying butter since Nov. 30 at the rate of one million pounds a day. It now holds some 85 million pounds in storage. Much of this probably will be a total loss.

Obviously it is not sound economics to produce butter no one wants to buy. The net effects of the present policy are the steady discouragement of butter consumers who don't like high prices, and the wasteful piling up of butter stocks in federal warehouses.

Benson recognizes the weird unreality of the situation. He continued supports at 90 per cent to purchase time for thorough consideration of alternatives which will protect the dairy farmer without wasteful overproduction and further harm to the already sadly diminished butter market.

The dairy industry and the Agriculture Department must bend their efforts quickly to a full use of the time that has been so dearly bought. The farmer is not served for long by policies that spell production for the government's garbage heap.

ACCIDENTALLY ON PURPOSE? (Green Bay Press Gazette)

Americans have complained for some time because the government has insisted that the Korean fighting is a "police action" rather than a war. But the distinction of the terms has far-reaching effects.

In both Indiana and Pennsylvania, courts have ordered insurance companies to pay double indemnity and accidental death benefits to relatives of soldiers killed in Korea. The insurance policies carry clauses that specify the benefits do not hold good if the insured died while "a member of the military services in time of war." The courts ruled that a state of war does not exist until congress so decides and it was not the function of the court to declare war.

Presumably insurance companies will rewrite a lot of policies. In the meantime the relatives of soldiers killed may get a glimmer of comfort that, officially, the whole Korean business is just a big accident.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Though the most publicized part of Anthony Eden's visit was economic, the most significant part was an attempt to tone down what the British regard as our dangerous policy in the Far East.

The British foreign minister was not too happy with the result.

He feels that Eisenhower's advisers are intent on doing something in the Far East just for the sake of doing; that they are placing last fall's campaign pledges ahead of international safety; and that if the Russians are pushed too hard, especially since Stalin's death, we'll "incident" ourselves into war.

A few more incidents such as the shooting down of U. S.-British planes over Germany, the British feel, will either make us lose complete face with our allies or eventually arouse popular demand for retaliatory action. Either is dangerous.

Eden's view is shared by many career advisers in the State Department. They feel that recent Russian air bullying has been a deliberate warning that two can play at the game of "get tough," and that if we get tough in the Far East, Russia can get even tougher in Europe. And is there's too much playing at this game, they advise, the eventual result is—war.

TAX LAUGHS

Here is a cross-section of mail from unhappy taxpayers flooding the Internal Revenue Bureau around March 15 . . . As usual, there were indignant, tongue-in-cheek letters from Irish-Americans that the annual income-tax gouge was a "British plot" to spoil the celebration of St. Patrick's day . . . Also the usual query regarding surtaxes. A lady in New York wrote: "Do women have to pay that 'sir' tax?" . . . A Kansan, filling out a joint return, told his tax collector he didn't have a spouse, but was "happily married to a wife." . . . A sardonic Texan wrote: "The difference between death and taxes is that death doesn't get worst every time Congress meets." . . . An Arkansas taxpayer, who recently started a business with his son, received some withholding tax forms from the Bureau and replied: "My son and I have studied the prospectus you sent us and the application form for membership in your organization. We have decided, however, after due consideration, that we do not care to join your organization at this time." . . . A Baltimorean with 14 children described himself in his tax return as a "production manager."

California agents were nonplused by an elderly woman who reported, in filling out a joint return, that her husband was blind. "It will still be necessary for him to sign the joint return," she was told.

"Would it be possible for you to bring him in here with you?"

"Oh, yes," the lady replied cheerfully. "He'll be in shortly. He's parking the car."

IKE'S FUN AND BUSINESS

Covering the President when he goes to Augusta, Ga., is a tough problem for the White House news contingent. Lists of callers are not posted, as at the White House in Washington. Newsmen aren't encouraged around the golf club.

Some of what the President does is unimportant, some important.

In the unimportant category: Ike calls his Negro caddy, Willie Perceet, "Cemeter," because a girl friend once carved him up in a tavern . . . Ike still uses military terms. When about to take a picture of his Bobby Jones portrait, Ike said "I've sent Nell to get Mamie to turn out for this formation, but she's tired of photographers."

Nell is Mrs. Robert Woodruff, whose husband is head of Coca Cola.

In the important category: Ike golfed with John Hay Whitney, husband of the first Mrs. Jimmie Roosevelt, and dominant figure in Freepress Sulphur. His company is trying to lease or buy from Ike's subordinate the huge U. S. government nickel plant in Cuba . . . Also visiting Ike were Ellis Slater, Frankfort Distillers; John Budinger, Bankers Trust; Cliff Roberts, the investment banker; Bob Woodruff of Coca Cola; and William Robinson, executive vice president of the N. Y. Herald Tribune.

BATTLE FOR OIL

After ex-secretary of the interior Oscar Chapman finished testifying at the tidelands oil hearings recently, Texas' new senator, Price Daniel, came over to him and remarked:

"Oscar, I've never agreed with your position, but you've made a tough case for us. You're the most effective witness ever to testify against us."

Chapman had reminded Republicans that federal control of public lands was started by Republican President Teddy Roosevelt, chided Nebraska's Senator Butler for proposing to turn all public lands back to the states. He warned that if midwest oil is cut off, the U. S. Navy would desperately need submerged oil. Most telling of all, he reminded the oil companies that if the Holland or Daniel bills are passed, the oil companies won't be able to drill for about ten years, because tidelands oil will be tied up in litigation.

The Giant File:

Social Security Picks Your Card Out Of 106 Million In 3 Minutes

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

BALTIMORE—(NEA)—It takes two-and-one-half minutes to find your name among 106,000,000 others in the "flexoline" index of social security card holders.

You get a code number, and then it takes about three minutes to go to the master file to produce a couple of punch cards with your name and your employer's name at the top.

You walk a few feet and hand these cards to a young lady who operates a big machine. She drops them into a slot, the machine whirs, and in a split second she hands you a long, narrow slip of paper with some figures on it.

The last figure on the right tells you—in this case me—that since I began working in 1940 $34,614.93 of my earnings have been taxed for social security purposes.

For that bit of accounting I take my hat off to Uncle Sam. It's more than my jumbled set of books could ever produce. Milton Johnson, the official showing me around, then offered to produce a detailed record of my employment history. I took him up on the offer.

It required another three minutes to pull a spool of microfilm out of a file and less time than that to put it into a projection machine, which then spread before me the record of every job I had since leaving college.

The enlarged film, to my amazement, recalled the afternoon in 1942 which I had spent digging ditches for a construction company down in Texas. That job, incidentally, had added exactly one penny of tax to my account.

This gigantic social security file is maintained by the Division of Accounting Operations of the Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance in a dusty old warehouse across the street from the Baltimore wharves.

It takes 4700 employees, 290,107 square feet of floor space, 830 IBM machines and 22,233 file cabinets to do the job. The cost figures out to be 14 cents a year per account.

Primarily the file is maintained for the payment of social security claims. But it has other purposes. An individual account can be located with just the name and date of birth, however.

Johnson explained that the only figure they are interested in is the amount of total wages from which a social security deduction had been made. Before 1950 a deduction was made from wages up to $3000 per year. Since then it has been upped to $3600. They don't record any earnings above that figure.

He figured that out of the including the supplying of a statement of wages, such as mine, to anyone requesting it. You can ask for only one per year. The bureau averages 3000 requests per day for this information. The request must be made on a form post card which asks for name, address, social security number and date of birth.

$34,614.93 of my taxed wages which they had recorded. I had actually paid into the social security fund $397.15. The total fund is now $18,000,000,000.

Then he made a kind of morbid but interesting calculation. He figured that if I should die tomorrow, if my wife did not remarry and had a normal life span and if my three children all lived past the age of 18, my wife could end up collecting a total of $33,972.00 from Uncle Sam over the years.

That for the payment of only $397.15!

However, Johnson also pointed out how I could come out on the short end of my account.

If my wife died before I did, if my children all grew up to be financially independent and if I then died about age 65 I could have put about $1500 cash into the fund. But the only benefit paid on my account all that time would be $225. That sum would be available to help pay for burial expenses.

How much any one wage earner gets back from his social security taxes depends on a lot of different factors. The major consideration is the average wage he has earned.

Dependents of deceased wage earners are eligible for a survivors insurance. And workers who reach the age of 65 are eligible for old-age benefits. These payments could also vary according to the number of dependents a wage earner might have when he retires.

So far as is known, this equipment is the first ever designed especially for photographing, under-water life at night. Sunlight is not necessary—in fact, better results are expected after the sun goes down, when the Aquascope photographers can attract fishes without the camera ray by showing a dim glow from a tiny flashlight bulb.

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN

DAY OF THE IRISH—This is St. Patrick's Day and the Irish will make the most of it, just as they have made the most of what they have for many centuries.

Take an Irishman away from the old sod and he becomes more Irish than before. Witness if you will the Irish in America, who on this day wear the green and march in parades and sing longingly of the Emerald Isle—which many of them have never seen.

The pride of an Irishman is equalled only by the pride of another Irishman. It has no counterpart elsewhere on the face of the earth.

Today in America there is a big St. Patrick's Day parade in New York City, joined by thousands of Irish not of the metropolis. Some of them will go there from far distant points, for New York City with its Irish population exceeding that of Ireland itself is the American mecca for the Irish.

THE LEGENDS—The wit and humor of the Irish is legendary and there is a Pat and Mike version to almost every story ever told.

Just who Pat and Mike were we do not know, but they have been credited with more stories than any other two men in any other land.

Monday noon at the Escanaba Rotary Club meeting President Nevin Reynolds wore a green tie decorated with shamrocks and the Irish lyre. The latter is a musical instrument.

In keeping with the arrival of St. Patrick's Day on Tuesday, members of the Rotary Club were invited to tell some Irish jokes, and in the telling the names Pat and Mike were prominently mentioned.

James Degnan set the ball rolling with the following:

Pat met Mike on the street and asked him if he was coming to his (Pat's) daughter's wedding reception. Mike said he didn't know Pat's daughter was having such an event but he would come.

"Fine," said Pat, "and when you come to the front door you'll find it sticks—but you can open it with a kick, by pushing with your shoulder, or with an elbow."

"And why can't I use me hands?" asked Mike, bewildered.

"Because I know you won't be coming to me daughter's reception empty-handed!"

FOR THE WAKE—L. J. Jacobs told the story about two lazy and shiftless Irishmen—yes, their names were Pat and Mike. Deciding to change their ways, Pat and Mike found a job and went to bed full of solemn promises of arising early the following morning. But who would wake up first to make sure they were at work on time?

"Now, it's this way," said Pat, "if I get up first in the morning I'll put a mark on the floor."

"Fine," Mike agreed, "and if I get up first I'll rub it out!"

John Lemmer told the story of Pat (just Pat, this time) who was slowly and reluctantly leaving this world. Pat was in his sick bed on the second floor, while his good wife, Bridget, came up to see him occasionally and inquire about his rapidly declining health.

Pat and the sun were both sinking when Bridget climbed the stairs in the late afternoon.

"And is there anything I can do for you, Pat?" she asked.

"Just one thing," groaned Pat, "the ham smells so good you are cooking downstairs that I could eat some for me last meal on earth."

"No, Pat," replied Bridget sadly, "tis hard to deny your request—but the ham is for the wake!"

CONTRIBUTION—The Irish have given much to America, including in the early days a great deal of hard labor to help build the railroads and canals and the tall buildings.

Perhaps it was to this that O. V. "Ollie" Thatcher referred when he told the story about the inventiveness of the Irish.

"But their greatest invention was the wheelbarrow," said he, "for it helped teach the Irishman to walk upright!"

Dr. Thomas A. McInerney, who told a story about the Irish that I have forgotten, retorted:

"The Irish not only invented the wheelbarrow—they were the first to walk upright!"

It won't be long until the jack of all trades goes into the same thing—vacation expense.

Dutch Eternal Sea Battlers

WASHINGTON—Once again the Dutch have lost a battle—but not the war—to their oldest foe, the sea.

North Europe's recent storms have temporarily returned to salt water three fourths of the 2,000 square miles wrested from it by man in seven centuries of drudging toil. The gale may be rated as one of the most costly in Netherlands history.

More than a score of storms and floods have engulfed the Netherlands since the Middle Ages, killing as many as 40,000 people in a single day, the National Geographic Society reports. The worst catastrophes were the great floods of 1228, 1421, 1521 and 1646, each of which took some 100,000 lives. In more recent times serious dike breaks occurred in 1825, 1894 and 1916.

Long conditioning in fighting the sea has disciplined the Dutch to rally as a nation against flood. The spade has always ranked with the sword as a weapon of defense in Holland. Thousands seized spades and rushed to man the dikes when they crumbled this winter.

Law of the Spade
Even in turbulent medieval times all quarrels were dropped before the common need to fight water. "Dike or Depart" once meant that any man unable to mend his section of dike must, under the stern Law of the Spade, release his farm to one who could.

Ever since the ancient Dutch built their marshland homes on mounds the nation has been perfecting its knowledge of water control through the use of sand, clay, willow matting and imported stone; and by incessant pumping, dredging and draining. Most windmills power pumps.

Over the centuries a billion cubic yards of earth, equaling 10 Suez Canals, have been moved to protect and drain this largely man-made country. Now 1,599 miles of dikes guard the Netherlands. Fortress-like earthworks link 200 miles of natural sand dunes to repel the sea along the coast, and other dikes line rivers and estuaries.

More than one fourth of the Netherlands lies below sea level and many more areas are only a few feet above it. When the west wind drives English Channel water to meet water deflected by Norway's coast, the North Sea seeks its old course across the Hollow Land.

Tide and Storm Combine
High tides and winter storms raise the water level to heights equalling the second stories of Amsterdam houses, and water slaps at dike banks many feet above peaceful, prosperous farms.

Water, strangely enough, has been a loyal ally to the Dutch as well as a bitter foe. Opened dikes brought the Prince of Orange's barge navy to save inland Leyden from the Spanish in 1574, and flooded fields kept the French out of Amsterdam in 1672. Netherlands flood defense plans proved futile, however, against Hitler's 1940 blitzkrieg.

Although World War II water damage was less than had been feared, the Netherlands suffered proportionately more during the war than other western European nations. The Dutch made a spectacular recovery, however, and prior to the storm had declined additional American aid.

Hollywood Should Change Its Name

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — If Lauren Bacall had her way, this would be a different dateline. She says Hollywood should change its name. "Hollywood already has two strikes against it because of its name," remarked the willowy blonde. "By years of the wrong kind of publicity, the name has gotten a bad connotation with the general public. 'Hollywood' has become a term of derision, a synonym for cheapness and immorality in the minds of too many citizens."

Drinking And Carousing
"A resident of Hollywood has two reactions when he is asked where he's from. Either he tries to hide the fact and dodge the query, or he replies defiantly that he's from Hollywood and waits for the adverse reaction.

"The public has a strange conception of our behavior here. According to some individuals, actors spend a few of the morning hours making faces before the cameras. The afternoon is given up to a mad whirl of drinking and carousing. Then we dash home, put our children on the head, change clothes and hurry out to a wild evening of drinking, dancing and debauch."

"Unfortunately, too many people have identified that kind of life with Hollywood. It is too much of a stigma to overcome. I think the only way to get a fresh start is to get a new name for the movie capital."

"The name 'Hollywood' doesn't really pertain to the entire film capital anyway. Most of the studios

Congressional Quiz

By Congressional Quarterly

1. Q—Is President Eisenhower in favor of a 25 per cent Constitutional limit on the income tax?

A—In a 1952 letter to a Louisiana newspaper, Mr. Eisenhower said such a tax ceiling could "result in larger and larger deficits" and the "rigidity" of a Constitutional amendment would be "a source of danger in possible future national emergencies."

2. Q—Could the President veto a Congressional joint resolution to submit the 25 per cent tax limit amendment to the states?

A—No. Although joint (Senate-House) resolutions under other circumstances usually need Presidential endorsement before taking effect, a joint resolution proposing to amend the Constitution does not require Presidential approval. On passage by two-thirds of the membership of both houses a resolution to amend the Constitution goes to the states for ratification.

3. Q—I find I can't get FHA loan insurance at present for financing repairs to my house because the FHA has used up its "authorization". Is Congress going to do anything about this?

A—The Senate Banking and

Currency Committee Feb. 4 favorably reported a bill to amend the National Housing Act by increasing from $1.25 billion to $1.75 billion the amount available to the Federal Housing Administration for loan insurance on home repairs and improvements. The Committee said a backlog of 290,000 applications for $195 million in loan insurance is being held up because the FHA already has reached the limit of its present home repair loan insurance authorization.

4. Q—What is the purpose of the Senate bill to prohibit interstate transportation of obscene matter, since existing law already bans such shipment?

A—In reporting the bill Feb. 4, the Senate Judiciary Committee said the bill will make it illegal to transport such material privately, such as by automobile or in person. The existing ban deals only with shipment by mail or common carrier. The Committee said it acted because "nothing good could come of the permitting of such trafficking in any possible way."

Miss Bacall had no ready suggestion for a new name for this burg. How about Movie City? Filmville? Or maybe Chlorophyl, Calif. That might accomplish what she is after.

After a three-year absence, Bacall is again before the cameras in "How To Marry a Millionaire." She hoots at the notion it is a comeback.

"If you're off the screen for six months, you're supposed to be making a comeback," she complained. "I'm 28, and I've been in the movies for eight years. This is not a comeback."

Erosion Brings Tax Deductions

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Bureau of Internal Revenue has agreed to permit income tax deductions to Great Lakes shore-owners for damages to property by wind or wave action.

But it declined to allow deductions for what it termed "progressive deterioration" resulting from gradual erosion or inundation at still water levels.

The bureau's rulings were contained in letter to Reps. Keating (R-N.Y.), Ford (R-Mich.), and Ostertag (R-N.Y.).

"It seems clear," Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews wrote the congressmen, "that loss due to boathouses, docks, seawalls, etc., on the Great Lakes as a result of their being battered by wave and wind action during a storm is generally deductible."

Referring to losses by gradual erosion, Andrews said:

"The rise and fall of water levels of the Great Lakes is a normal process and damage resulting from high water levels alone lacks the characteristic of a casualty loss under the law."

Bombers Smash Up Red Trucks

By GEORGE A. McARTHUR

SEOUL (AP)—A quick-thinking Australian fighter-bomber pilot bottled up a long Communist supply convoy today and paved the way for one of the biggest truck busting forays of the Korean War.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force said more than 100 vehicles were destroyed or damaged in a climactic air strike that followed a day-long series of air blows against Red targets.

Warrant Officer Bob Turner of Adelaide spotted a mile-long Communist convoy south of Wonsan on North Korea's east coast. He roared to the head of the line and blew up the first two trucks with an attack dive. Then he circled back and got the last four.

The Reds were stalled on a narrow road, a steep cliff on one side, a sheer drop on the other.

More Aussie Meteor jets and U. S. Marine and Air Force warplanes streaked in to attack the trapped trucks. They darted up and down the line, setting off gasoline fires and explosions.

More Jets Equipped To Carry A-Bombs

INDIAN SPRINGS, Nev. (AP)—The Air Force has added the F84C Thunderjet fighter-bomber and the B45 Tornado jet bomber to its roster of A-bomb carrying planes.

The announcement was made at Indian Springs Air Force Base as the five planes capable of carrying nuclear devices were shown to newsmen and civilian defense officials.

Besides the Republic F84G and North American's B45, the Air Force listed the following planes as atomic age mainstays:

The Boeing B47 Stratojet, a six-engine medium bomber; the Convair B36 heavy bomber, with six piston engines and four jet engines; and the Boeing B50 Superfortress, four-engine medium bomber.

Stevenson Regarded As Prospect For 1956

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell of the Democratic National Committee said that he thinks Adlai E. Stevenson will be seriously considered as the party's 1956 presidential nominee.

Asked about a recent assertion by Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) that there is a conspiracy to drive the South out of the party, Mitchell said on an NBC television show that actually there is a strong effort under way to unite all segments of the party.

"The Democratic party is not going to die," he said. "It's not going to be broken."

Fire Fan Arrested Running Red Light

CHICAGO (AP)—"I'm a fire fan," said Charles Spuehler when police stopped him for speeding through a red light.

They believed him, too. Spuehler, a 50-year-old janitor was dressed in a fire marshal's uniform. And his "fire engine red" sedan was equipped with extra lights and a siren.

He was charged with impersonating an emergency vehicle, running a red light and speeding.

AND GOOD LUCK TO YOU—Missing no bets for St. Patrick's Day, Pat Moranty, of the Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village in Detroit, found this unique horseshoe embellished with a four-leaf clover, combining two universal symbols of good luck. In background are more of the unusual shoes. Although similar to those used to correct the hoof and leg malformations of race and riding horses, they were used mainly for display purposes in blacksmith shops before the turn of the century. "Oh dear!
I wonder what happened?"

Suppose you had been watching this tense scene, just as this woman and child did...

Even though you watched and watched, chances are you'd have to do what she did — get a newspaper to get the full story.

Then, for the first time, you'd learn that the girl on the ladder had fallen into the Potomac River, narrowly escaped being swept over the falls, and had clung to a rock for three hours. Then the firemen rescued her.

Being on the spot is not much better than seeing one or two photographs of the action, or seeing a headline about it, or hearing a brief announcement.

All of these can whet your appetite for news, but they cannot satisfy your hunger for the whole story... the way you want it... right away... in all its local color.

• This goes for advertising, too. The brief message that hangs in the air... or brief headlines here or there... may indeed have a momentary interest.

But the newspaper ad carries the bristacks quality, the urgency of the newspaper itself.

Like a news item, the ad can be examined and re-examined. Can be read any time. Anywhere. Can be clipped and carried in a pocketbook.

Add to all this the fact that the newspaper reaches just about everybody in town, and you know why the newspaper is the nation's most effective advertising medium.

The newspaper is always
"first with the most"

British Coronation Has Influence On American Styles

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

There will be no lingering doubts that America is coronation-conscious once the girls step out in their new spring clothes. They'll be wearing crowns on their lapels, scepters on their handbags and tiaras on their heads.

Seventh Avenue, New York's seething cauldron of mass-produced fashion, is taking seriously the coronation of British Queen Elizabeth June 2. Dresses from $10.75 up are being produced with a regal theme. Some dressmakers content themselves with the color "coronation white." Others throw in sequined or jewel-embroidered royal insignia on pockets and collars for good measure.

You can buy a tiara at Woodworth's stores for 98 cents. A Fifth Avenue 5 and 10 has a great counter of the jeweled headpieces, in a variety of styles, selling like hotcakes to eager young stenographers and high school students.

Costume jewelry manufacturers are showing tiaras, ranging from the 98-cent variety to impressive affairs selling as high as $50. The jeweled crown pin will be seen on a mignon suit lapels in the U. S. Easter parade. Small jeweled thrones and scepters also will be much in evidence, worn as pins, earrings or bracelet charms.

Hairdressers have jumped on the bandwagon with a series of "coronation hairdos," designed for correct wear with tiaras. They have added all kinds of jeweled gadgets to increase the coiffure sparkle.

Glove manufacturers report an unprecedented demand for formal white kid gloves, many jewel-embroidered. Milliners are doing a land-office business in "important" hats, flower-laden and veiled.

Venetian blinds need soap-and-water care at intervals besides regular dusting with lamb's wool or the vacuum attachment. The quickest method is to immerse the blind in a bathtub filled with detergent suds. Tapes should be scrubbed on both sides with a brush. Freely move the blinds through the suds and rinse in the same way. Blinds can be dried while hanging at the window to prevent tapes from shrinking.

Mrs. Lindquist Addresses League On School Revenue

The over-all picture of school revenue was explained by Mrs. Norman L. Lindquist of the Escanaba Board of Education in talk last evening to members of the League of Women Voters at Carnegie Public Library.

It was pointed out by the speaker that the state formula structure is not easy to understand. However, with the aid of graphs, the financial picture was clearly shown.

The main sources of school revenue fall into four classifications, she said. They are:

- 1—Local Taxes, a 2 mill tax levy by the state.
- 2—Primary school interest fund, derived from public utilities, taxes on telephone, railroads, airlines, etc.
- 3—Sales tax diversion.
- 4—State aid.

The fourth point, the State Aid, constitutes the greater part of the revenue and is distributed by the total enrollment of the school. The state issues $153.00 per elementary child and $173.00 per high school child. For every pupil lost at the high school level $173.00 is also lost or the State Aid decreases by about $17.00 for each 100 high school students lost in membership. It also was pointed out that although the state pays $173.00 per student the amount raised locally for school operation was about $36.13 per student.

The League also discussed several problems of the city which may be studied next year. Mrs. Robert Mosenfelder presented the finance problem. Mrs. Victor Powers discussed courts. Mrs. Leonard Veder had the Charter revision and Mrs. Wesley Hanson discussed the electric power problem.

After putting out any outdoor fire, take the safety precaution to stay around until the ashes are cool enough to test with your bare hands.

Weight Curbs Now In Effect

Weight restrictions have gone into effect on County roads and on various state trunk lines, it was announced yesterday by Eugene Johnson, county road commission engineer.

State highway department load restrictions cover all blacktop and gravel roads in the state and all concrete in the lower peninsula north of a route between Muskegon and Mt. Clemens via US-16 to Howell and M-59 to Mt. Clemens.

The speed limitation for all trucks using these highways and roads is 35 miles an hour during the period the weight regulations are in force, Johnson said.

The following load restrictions have been announced by the Newberry office of the highway department:

Axle spacing 9 feet or over—13,500 pounds on specially designated tandem routes which include US-2; 13,500 pounds on rigid pavements; and 11,700 pounds on flexible and traffic bound roads, which include gravel and blacktop.

Axle spacing of 3½ to 9 feet—12,000 pounds on tandem routes; 9,750 pounds on rigid pavements; and 8,450 pounds on flexible and traffic bound roads.

Axle spacing of less than 3½ feet—same as for axles of 9 feet or over.

Maximum load on any wheel shall not exceed the following pounds per inch of tire width—tandem roads, 525 pounds; rigid pavements, 525 pounds; flexible and traffic bound roads, 450 pounds.

Auto In River Turns Out To Be His Own

CHICAGO (AP)—"What happened?" Pasquale Grimaldi asked a man in the crowd peering at the Chicago River from the street level above a riverside parking lot.

"Some guy's car got pushed into the river and sank out of sight," was the answer.

"Aw, the poor guy," murmured Grimaldi as he headed for his car. Grimaldi's car wasn't there.

Time marks leading from the empty space to the riverbank parapet showed why.

IT'S NOT A NOSE EXTENSION—This new British Patchett machine-carbine appears to be resting on the nose of St. T. A. McCluskey, but it's only an optical illusion. Actually the gun has a collapsible stock, which rests in the shoulder depression. The weapon is undergoing tests at the British School of Infantry, in Hyde, Kent.

Bottle Proves Too Strong A Lure For Nahma Man Saturday

The lure of the bottle proved just too much for Frank Hardwick, of Nahma, here Saturday. Saturday forenoon he was arraigned along with John Moses, also of Nahma, on a drunk charge. Both men paid their small fines and left.

But Hardwick succumbed to temptation again Saturday afternoon and was picked up by state police, considerably inebriated.

He was jailed over the weekend and brought into justice court Monday on a drunk and disorderly charge. He was offered the alternative of a $10 fine and costs or 10 days in jail. Unable to pay his fine, he was taken to jail but indicated he may be able to settle up today.

Reuben Larson, Mrs. Matt Strom, Mrs. Paul Noe and Miss Lydia Strom will be the hostesses. Ladies are invited.

Two Rapped On Beer Charge

A new state law making it a misdemeanor for a minor to have intoxicants in a car proved a double-edged weapon in Manistique justice court yesterday.

As a result both the minor and the man who furnished him beer took a sharp rap administered by Justice Victor P. Deemer.

William R. Jessick, 18, paid a fine of $35 and costs of $4 and also was given a two day jail sentence. He was arrested Sunday by state police with beer in his auto.

Jessick told officers that he was furnished the beer by Clyde Dixon of the Majestic Tavern, Deer St., on March 6. A warrant was served on Dixon yesterday morning and he was fined $100 and costs of $4, both of which he paid.

Dixon is the first tavern operator who has been apprehended for furnishing intoxicants to minors here since the new law went into effect.

Three Are Fined On Traffic Counts Here Yesterday

Three traffic law violators, one charged with reckless driving, were fined in local justice court yesterday.

Frank Dougherty, 19, of Detroit, former Manistique resident, paid a fine of $25 and costs of $4 when arraigned for reckless driving. He was ticketed March 6 by city police.

Earl J. Eisile, 24, of Detroit, ticketed by city police on March 11, paid $4 for failure to yield right of way. He was issued the summons following a minor accident.

Also ticketed after a minor accident on March 9 was Harold Price, 48, of Nahma, who paid up at his arraignment Monday. He was charged by city officers with failure to have his car under control.

Emeralds Leave Today For State Tournament

MANISTIQUE — The Manistique Emeralds, class B champions of the Upper Peninsula, left this morning for Mt. Pleasant where at 9 p. m. tomorrow they will meet Ludington in the first round of the state basketball tournament.

Accompanying the team were Rudy Brandstrom, coach, and William J. Cook, athletic director. A block of reserve seat tickets at Mt. Pleasant has been set aside for Manistique fans, it was reported yesterday by Cook. Persons planning to attend the game Wednesday should get Manistique identification slips at the high school office here before leaving. The reserve tickets will be available upon presentation of the slips.

If Manistique should win at Mt. Pleasant the Emeralds will play in semi-finals in Jenison Field House, East Lansing, either at 5 or 6:30 p. m. Friday, Cook said. Only general admission tickets are available for the semi-finals.

Michigan Man Enters Cars At Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Eugene Casaroll of Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich., has entered two cars in this year's 500 mile race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

Casaroll named Neal Carter of Royal Oak, Mich., as the driver for one of his two Auto Shipper specials. No pilot was nominated for the other.

The class B state championship game is scheduled for 3:30 p. m. Saturday at the Jenison Field House. Admission will be by reserve seat ticket only. A thousand reserve tickets have been set aside and will be available from L. L. Frimodig, assistant state athletic director, at Jenison Field House until 10 a. m. Saturday. Six will be the maximum number of tickets sold to any one person.

All games are scheduled on Eastern Standard Time.

Top Class C Contender Great Rebounding Team

By JOE FALLS (Associated Press Sports Writer) By basketball standards, Remus (Class C) doesn't have a tall team. Its starting five averages only five feet, 10 inches.

Yet it brings a perfect (23-0) record into the quarter-finals of the State High School Tournament—and its coach says "rebounding did it for us."

That's a new twist. As any fan knows, rebounding is a tall man's game. Seldom does a little guy get the ball of the backboards.

But coach Fred Gallert of Remus says rebounding is his club's big strength.

Tremendous Jumpers "We're not too big," explains Gallert, "but we can get that ball off the backboard. That's what has won for us this year."

Two "big" men—Bob Rhode and Dick Burke—are only six feet. They do a tremendous job of jumping. Most of the teams we've played this year have been taller—but we outbounded every one of them."

Remus, which will meet powerful Muskegon St. Mary, uses a slow, deliberate style of play.

"We can fast break, too, if needed," Gallert pointed out. "But primarily we're a possession club."

Rhode and Burke are the only six-footers on the squad. The other players are five-foot-nine Jerry Abel, who specializes in a side jump shot; five-foot-eleven Jack Wernette, who is the set shot artist; and Gene Fountain, the playmaker.

Three Others Unbeaten Gallert knows he's meeting a good club in St. Mary. "They're not too big but they're fast," he said. "But our boys are out to win and it'll take an awfully good team to beat us."

Muskegon St. Mary, which has rolled up 19 wins this season, is considered by many to be one of the best teams in Class C.

In addition to Remus, three other teams bring perfect records in tomorrow's Wednesday quarter-finals. They are Class A Lansing Sexton (18-0), Class B Manistique (19-0) and Class D Detroit All Saints (22-0).

The survivors of the quarter-finals will move onto Lansing and East Lansing for the semi-finals Friday night. Then the eight remaining teams will square off Saturday afternoon and evening in Michigan State College's Jenison Field House for the State championships.

The Field House holds 11,500 people but most of the tickets are gone.

Marciano Plans Tour Of Pacific

CHICAGO (AP)—Rocky Marciano, the heavyweight boxing champion, and his manager, Al Weill, say they like the idea of a Pacific exhibition tour if Rocky beats Jersey Joe Walcott.

Marciano meets the man he dethroned April 10 in Chicago Stadium.

If Marciano beats Walcott again, Weill told reporters last night, the champion may spend the rest of the year touring the Pacific and possibly Europe. He said promoters in Honolulu, Manila, Tokyo and other Pacific Ocean and Far East cities are keenly interested.

Marciano will return today to his Holland, Mich., training camp until the day of the fight. He and Weill appeared on a television program Monday night.

Marciano said he will dispose of Walcott "maybe a little sooner" than the 13 rounds it took him to knock out Jersey Joe last year.

Hawks At Calumet Tonight In First Bid For NM Title

Escanaba's upstart Hawks enter their first Northern Michigan Hockey League championship playoffs tonight at 8:15 at Calumet's rink, meeting the Radars in the first of a best-of-five title series.

The Hawks climaxed their three-year membership in the NM circuit by upsetting the Marquette Sentinels in the semi-final series concluded last week. Escanaba won two of the three semi-final games with the Sentinels who were making a determined bid for league's valuable Doc Gioson trophy this year.

Calumet hockey officials reported this morning that the ice there was in good shape for the game tonight. Freezing temperatures last night assured the teams a good ice surface for the opening game.

Second game of the championship series is scheduled for the Escanaba fairgrounds indoor rink Thursday night with the opening faceoff at 8:15. In spite of recent warm weather here, the ice is still in good condition at the fairgrounds and the rink will be kept clear until Thursday night.

The Hawks will be seeking to break a Copper Country stronghold on the Northern Michigan hockey championship. With the exception of the Soo, no team outside of the Copper Country has ever won top hockey honors in the Upper Peninsula.

Coach Mark Olson's Hawks, who have performed well on the road this season (they won both of their opening starts in the Copper Country early in the season), will be gunning at top speed to get the jump on Calumet in the opener. The Hawks are in good physical condition with all players ready for action.

Hockey Sidelights

Hockey cuff notes: What with afternoon temperatures in the 35 and 40's and eager beavers beginning to look longingly at fishing rods and golf clubs, you would not think it possible but ice at Escanaba's indoor rink is holding up fine. . . . Ed Buckland says Pete Dube and Jeannette LeCapitaine have been skating almost daily, and the Junior and Senior Hawks practiced Saturday afternoon to prime Escanaba for its first NM championship finals bid.

Semifinals results show how well balanced the Northern Michigan puck circuit is this year. . . . Marquette figured to take Escanaba and then Portage Lake in the finals. . . . But Marquette couldn't get by Escanaba Hawks and Radars in the best-of-five title series starting in Calumet tomorrow night. . . . The championship rivals then battle in Escanaba Thursday night, and the third game is slated to be played in Calumet Saturday night. . . . If the best-of-five series goes into a second week, it is likely the last few games will be played on Marquette's artificial ice. . . . But this Thursday's game will be played in Escanaba.

Here's a story of irony. . . . Buddy Provo, Escanaba's home grown wing, didn't quite figure Escanaba could qualify for the championship finals. . . . So he lined up a good job on a Great Lakes ore vessel starting last Friday the 13th. . . . Then, of all things, Provo took a pass from Burt Petaja and scored the winning goal Thursday night—the goal that sent the Hawks into the finals. . . . But Buddy had to leave for Toledo, Ohio, Friday morning and will miss the finals. . . . Capable Dave Serbinski, however, likely will work in Provo's slot.

This is Jib DeMarinis' last season with the Marquette Sentinels, at least for a while. . . . He is going to college next fall. . . . DeMarinis is an honor student at Marquette's Gravenet High School. . . . The Bukoviches were praying for ice last Friday and Saturday. . . . They can stop praying now because they won't need it. . . . John Whittaker, Owen O'Brien & Co., including a very fast line of Finnish youngsters and veteran goalie Frank Sotlich, fixed that with an 8-3 win Saturday night.

It has been a tough season on goalies. . . . Clyde Berriman, Portage netter, was hit by a hard shot Saturday and had to leave the game in the third period. . . . Jim Kuusisto, Calumet goalie, was put out of commission in the first playoff game. . . . And Escanaba's Ben Artwich and Marquette's DeMarinis have had their share of cuts, bumps, bruises and stitches.

The Escanaba Hawk dressing room scene was reminiscent of those news shots of the Yankees after winning the World Series. . . . Much yelling, shaking of hands, slapping of backs and shoulders and then Humbert Hamilton struck off a chorus of "Allouette. . . . Beating Marquette to qualify for the championship finals climaxes three years of building hockey in Escanaba.

But Escanaba businessmen will continue to build toward a longer and artificial ice rink. . . . The "skatingest town in the United States", the community that produces the "biggest small town ice show in the world" and the little city that produces winning hockey teams and speed skaters certainly should have an artificial ice rink.—JGW.

Chuck Davey To Get Ring Award

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Notre Dame's Bengal plaque will be awarded tonight to Chuck Davey as the man who did the most for boxing in 1952.

The welterweight boxer, a polish-product of Michigan State College, will receive the award in ceremonies during the 22nd annual Bengal bouts for the University's boxing championships. Davey will serve as honorary referee at the bouts.

Rocky Marciano was awarded the plaque last year. Other former honorary referees include Barney Ross, Tony Zale, Billy Conn and Lou Ambers.

Eighteen athletes from nine states, the District of Columbia, Alaska and Hawaii will compete in the boxing finals. Davey will referee the welterweight championship bout.

St. Joe Trojans Enter State Tourney Action

The St. Joe Trojans this morning began their longest basketball trip in the history of the school as Coach Tom St. Germain's cagers step gingerly into the state high school basketball tournament picture.

With district and regional championships of the Upper Peninsula behind them, the St. Joe cagers are making their first venture into the Class C state tourney. Their destination today is Mt. Pleasant, home of Central Michigan College where St. Joe will play East Jordan in a quarter-final match at 7:30 tomorrow night.

Enroute the Trojans will stop off at Cheboygan for a practice session at the high school gymnasium.

St. Joe carries a record of 17 victories and three losses into the state tourney quarter-finals. Four of the wins came in recent tournament play.

Travelling Squad

A full travelling squad of 12 players will make the trip for St. Joe. Members are Dick Cass, Jim Gravelle, Dick Bryson, Bob Sendenburgh, John Martinec, Jim Zimmerman, Dave Hinn, Frank Mileski, Dan Marsicek, Bill Lancour, Bill Maycunich and Jerry McDonough.

Fr. Stephen Schneider, St. Joe athletic director, is accompanying the team on its 309-mile trip to Mt. Pleasant. If St. Joe wins its quarterfinal test the Trojans will move on to semifinal competition at Lansing Boys Vocational School Friday night. The Class C championship game will be played at Jenison Fieldhouse in East Lansing Saturday night.

The East Jordan team has a record of 16 victories against five losses this season. Three of the starting five top six feet in height, with the tallest player standing 6-2.

Other Contenders

In addition to St. Joe and East Jordan, the other Class C teams still in contention for the state crown are Hartford, Napoleon, Grosse Pointe St. Paul, Saginaw St. Mary, Muskegon St. Mary and Remus. Defending champion St. Louis has been eliminated.

Gwin, Upper Peninsula Class D champion, goes into action at 6 o'clock at Mt. Pleasant against Ellsworth. Other teams remaining in Class D are Muskegon St. Joseph, Stevensville, Detroit All Saints, DeWitt, Maple Grove and Beal City.

The third U. P. champion, Manistique in Class B, faces Ludington in its quarterfinal clash at 9 Wednesday night, also at Mt. Pleasant. Other B quints in action are St. Joseph, Adrian, Detroit St. Andrew (defending champion), Inkster, Grand Blanc and Utica.

Randy Turpin Fights Walt Cartier Tonight

LONDON (AP)—Randy Turpin, the guy the British think should be the world middleweight champion, tussles with New York's Walt Cartier over 10 rounds tonight.

British sports writers have pinned a "glass jaw" label on Cartier, who has been knocked out six times, and agree that Randy, one of the heaviest punchers for his weight, should be able to knock him out.

The University of Miami went through the entire game against the U. of Richmond this season without punting.

Club Owners Oppose Transfer Of Browns

Franchise Shift Blocked

By JACK HAND
and JOE REICHLER

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — One of the surest things in the history of baseball boomeranged into one of the biggest surprises in the game since the turn of the century when Bill Veeck was refused permission to transfer the St. Louis Browns to Baltimore.

For almost a week, unofficial polls of the owners indicated that mere formalities were involved in the proposed switch. But when they met here yesterday, they sent Veeck back to St. Louis for at least one more year by astounding one and all with a 5-2 vote against the switch. Only the Cleveland Indians and the Chicago White Sox reportedly sided with Veeck.

As officials talked it over today, they were not so certain the Boston Braves would receive permission to transfer the National League franchise to Milwaukee. This move also had been thought to be all set except for the official voting in St. Petersburg tomorrow.

All Must Approve
All the National League club owners must approve if the switch is to be made, and at least one—Walter O'Malley of the Brooklyn Dodgers—hinted he might not vote for the change.

Although he was not available, it was reported that Horace Stoneham of the New York Giants was against the move.

Another thing that might influence the action of the National League moguls was the attitude of Commissioner Ford Frick. He obviously was pleased that the Browns will be forced to remain in St. Louis.

"I'm in favor of transferring the franchise, but not at this late time," he said, referring to the Browns. "It would have been nonsensical to make the move so close to the start of the season. We would have been up to our necks in lawsuits."

Veeck, who said he lost $400,000 in St. Louis last year, was disappointed at the turn of events. "None of the other owners would be a bit unhappy if I sold out," he said.

Veeck Is On Spot

He's on the spot now, and whether the St. Louis fans will support the Browns is a question. They know he is being forced to operate there, and that the team probably will move out before long, perhaps by next year.

But, he said, he has no intention of selling the club—at least not at the present.

"However, I may change my mind two days from now," he commented. "I've been known to change my mind on two days notice. I still think my intended move was a wise one. And I still think it's a wise move for Boston to shift to Milwaukee."

Although Veeck complained the other owners wanted to see him leave the baseball picture, President Will Harridge of the American League said several factors led to the turnaround. Among them he listed television commitments, schedules, ticket sales, possibility of law suits and the general uncertainty of leaving a city that has been in the league 50 years.

Rose Bowl Vote Still Unsettled

CHICAGO (AP) — Big Ten schools waited today on two members—Purdue and Northwestern—for key votes on whether the conference's Rose Bowl football appearances will continue after next New Year's game.

Faculties of three schools—Michigan State, Minnesota and Wisconsin—have turned down a proposal to renew the contract with the Pacific Coast Conference after Jan. 1, 1954 expiration.

Michigan State, currently on probation after a Big Ten investigation of its aid-to-athletes practices, cast the latest negative. The Spartan faculty voted 154 to 94 against the pact Monday.

Illinois is the only school so far to approve an extension. Its faculty did so conditionally. Michigan, Iowa, Ohio State and Indiana are expected to follow suit.

Northwestern and Purdue were in favor of the original five-year contract but opposed its current three-year extension. Northwestern and Purdue officials have given no indication that they now would approve a further extension.

A 5-5 tie vote would kill the proposal, since a majority vote is necessary. The vote of all the schools is expected to be announced officially at a meeting in May.

Giants Learn Willie Mays Won't Get Army Discharge

By BEN OLAN
AP Sports Writer

It still was Pvt. Willie Mays today and that's not good news for the New York Giants.

The 21-year-old Negro outfielder had his application for discharge from the Army on dependency grounds turned down yesterday. Mays said he was the sole support of his mother, step-father, three brothers and six sisters.

The Giants had been hoping to have him back in time for the opening of the National League season next month. His availability in center field would have assured the switching of Bobby Thomson to third base.

Thompson There Now
Manager Leo Durocher is currently playing Hank Thompson in center but the shift-conscious skipper is expected to make further experiments before deciding who will open the season in that spot. Thomson played center field after Mays went into service last year.

A spokesman at the Second Army headquarters, Ft. Meade, Md., which reviewed Willie's case, said, "Dependency did not exist to a degree to warrant a discharge." To add to the day's misfortunes, the Giants learned that Thomson would be sidelined for two weeks as a result of a blow he received on the right wrist Sunday when struck by one of Mike Garcia's pitches.

Also on the debit side, the Giants dropped a 4-3 exhibition decision to the Chicago White Sox at Los Angeles. A couple of errors gave the Sox three unearned runs in the fourth inning off southpaw Max Lanier.

Sauer Injured
Another injury, at first thought to be a damaging one, cropped up as the Chicago Cubs defeated Los Angeles, 6-3, at Fullerton, Calif.

TODAY A YEAR AGO—World Featherweight Champion Sandy Saddler scored a technical knock-out over Tommy Collins of Boston in the fifth round.

FIVE YEARS AGO — St. Louis defeated NYU, 6-52, in finals of the National Invitation Basketball Tournament.

TEN YEARS AGO — Harry Holiday of Michigan swam the 200-meter backstroke in 2:22.9, one-tenth of a second faster than Adolph Kiefer's world record.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Bill Carr, Olympic 400-meter champion and recordholder, broke both his legs at the ankles in an auto accident.

At Bradenton, Fla., the Boston Red Sox scored three runs in the ninth inning to whip the Boston Braves, 8-6.

The Washington Senators walked over two Detroit pitchers for six homers and an 11-4 win over the Tigers.

Rookie Bill Hunter's triple and single which accounted for four runs led the St. Louis Browns to a 9-4 triumph over the Cleveland Indians.

Home runs by Del Ennis and Earl Torgeson were the big blows as the Philadelphia Phillies out-slugged the St. Louis Cardinals, 11-9.

At Havana, the Pittsburgh Pirates downed the Cuban All-Stars, 9-4.

Tigers Over-Powered 11-4 In Homer Binge

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—The Detroit Tigers had St. Patrick's day off to relax from competition in the grapefruit circuit but they were none too snug over a record of six wins and three losses so far.

All the victories are over National League teams. They still have to post a victory in their own American League.

The New York Yankees, the Boston Red Sox and now the Washington Senators have beaten them.

The Senators did it yesterday with a flurry of home runs that over-powered the Tigers 11-4.

Tigers Get Three
The Tigers themselves were no slouches in the home run department. They got three but that wasn't enough with the Senators banging out six homers.

Owen Friend, acquired from the St. Louis Browns in a trade last year, is the Tigers' leading home run hitter. He got his third homer of the season. Jim Delsing and Steve Souchock got their first.

Ray Herbert, working out with the Tigers pending his discharge from the Army April 24, started the game and yielded three of the homers. The most damaging blow was off Hal Erickson in the eighth when Washington's Centerfielder Jim Busby homered with Eddie Yost and Rookie Bob Oldis aboard.

The Senators took a first inning 1-0 lead without benefit of a homer and boosted it to 2-0 in the third with the help of a walk and a single.

Homers Start
The Tigers set off the slugfest in the third as Friend made it 2-1 with his 350-foot homer. Then Mickey Grasso homered for the Senators in the fourth. And both sides were off and running, but the Senators had more power.

Delsing blasted a 420 foot homer for the Tigers in the fourth but no one was aboard.

Yost and Jackie Jensen each got a homer off Herbert in the fifth with the bases empty.

Erickson relieved Herbert in the sixth but it wasn't a good day for pitchers. Early Dietzel got himself a homer with no one on.

The eighth inning was too much for the Tigers. Gene Verble, Washington shortstop, started it off with a homer. Wayne Terwilliger, former Western Michigan infielder, walked. He scored on Oldis' double. Yost walked and both he and Oldis raced home in front of Busby, who homered over the left-center barrier.

Ankle Seems Okay
Souchock homered for the Tigers in the eighth with Don Lund aboard. And the final score was 11-4.

Jerry Priddy, who saw his first action at third base, didn't appear handicapped by the ankle injury that sidelined him last year. He flied out twice and had one fielding chance before yielding to Rookie John Baumgartner.

Veneer Plant Employees Join Charity Fund Plan

This week more than 85 per cent of the employees of the Northwest Veneer and Plywood corporation in Gladstone agreed to adopt and signed up for a Charity Fund plan such as is now in effect at the Marble Arms and Mfg. Co., the Marble-Card Electric Co., and Escanaba Paper Co., it was announced yesterday.

By the formation of such a fund and adoption of the plan the vari-out charities such as Community Chest, March of Dimes, Crippled Children, T. B. Seal sales and Red Cross will receive increased contributions from employees of this plant, it was stated.

Employees who entered into the agreement donate a half hour's wages every second month to the Charity Fund. The fund will accumulate and from it contributions will be made to the different charities as the occasion arises.

The purpose of the plan to eliminate the individual collections or solicitations made at the plant during the year and the house canvas of mill employees. As each drive starts contributions will be made in lump sum from the fund and participating employees will receive stickers for their homes to show they cooperated in the drive so no home canvass will be made.

The plan has been in use in the plants mentioned earlier in the story and has proved successful.

By joining this plan the employees of the mill have recognized the need for supporting the various charities in their city and county, a spokesman for the plywood corporation office states.

So brief his time, he scarcely knew,
The memory of a sigh.

Loving and kind in all his ways,
Upright and just to the end of his days,
Sincere and true in his heart and mind,
Beautiful memories he left behind.

Sadly missed by his wife and children, Mrs. Grace Pierce and Family.

Local Scouts Win 'A' Rating

Eagle patrol of Escanaba's Boy Scout Troop 408 received a Class "A" rating in the Upper Peninsula Klondike Derby Sunday at the Munising-Alger Conservation Club area near Munising. The patrol is sponsored by Bethany Lutheran Brotherhood.

Scout teams participating were those which finished with top ratings in six district Klondike Derbies throughout the Upper Peninsula in the past several weeks.

Other teams competing from Delta County, which is part of the Red Buck District, were: Mohawk patrol of the Escanaba Elks' Lodge Troop 455, Class "B" rating; Panther I patrol of Escanaba's Bethany Lutheran Brotherhood Troop 408, Class "B" rating; Beaver patrol of Gladstone's Lutheran Brotherhood troop 467, Class "C" rating; and Panther II patrol also of Troop 408 of Escanaba, Class "C" rating.

The Scouts pulled Klondike sleds along an exploration course which they followed through compass readings, stopping at stations along the route where they participated in problems involving Scout skills. The problems included first aid, compass work, ice rescue, knot tying, firebuilding and Morse signalling.

Teams from the following Upper Peninsula communities competed: Sault Ste. Marie, Pickford, Stambaugh, Brimley, Hancock, Dollar Bay, Iron River, Munising, Marquette, Negaunee, Iron Mountain, Gladstone and Escanaba.

The championship pennant was awarded by Hiawathaland Council President Ben Bambenek of Iron Mountain to the Ace patrol of Marquette's Troop 302.

Winner of the "best sled" contest was Fox patrol of Troop 332, Munising.

At first, the low purplish burst sucked up dust and dirt from the desert floor into an angry, brown mushroom. Dust swept eastward along the desert floor finally obscured both test houses. The tower from which the device was set off was believed vaporized.

Of the dozen atomic explosions viewed by this observer, this was one of the smallest. The fireball's brilliance was less and it appeared smaller than most. The AEC announced beforehand that it would have an energy output equal to 15,000 tons of TNT.

As the dust on the proving ground cleared, trucks carrying the troops from their forward positions could be seen moving slowly towards their maneuver objective many minutes after the blast.

George B. Owen, of Phoenix, Arizona's civil defense director, said that in his opinion today's blast "proves that wind currents would have a definite effect on rescue problems."

Ireland Sunny For Saint's Day

DUBLIN (AP)—Ireland celebrated St. Patrick's Day today with a parade and a prayer. And there wasn't a soldier or a politician in sight.

It was a grand day — a bright sun shining and all so peaceful. It was perhaps the only country in the world where you couldn't drown the shamrock—for all the pubs and bars were closed.

The fighting Irish, who like to be different, did this up in typically different style in honoring the country's patron saint.

Stripped for the first time were all military trappings. The 12,000 strong Eire Army went to Mass and then were given the day off.

The only reminder of Ireland's turbulent past were grey-haired veterans of the IRA-Irish Republican Army—who led the parade.

They strode proudly while fiddlers and bagpipers ground out: the Wearing of the Green.

An estimated 75,000 lined the parade route along O'Connell Boulevard—including scores of American GIs on leave—to watch the two hour procession of floats.

There was only one foreign flag carried in the parade—the Stars and Stripes.

Dearborn Iron Lung Mother Has Baby Girl

DETROIT (AP)—Mrs. Verna Nash, a plucky 26-year-old Dearborn housewife who has been confined to an iron lung since she was stricken with polio last September, today is the mother of a five pound 12 ounce daughter.

Mrs. Nash left her iron lung in Herman Kiefer Hospital yesterday long enough to give birth to her daughter, Kim. The mother was returned to the iron lung immediately. She got her first glimpse of the baby through a vision mirror on her iron lung.

Doctors said both mother and baby were doing well.

James Hocking Of Rapid River Dies

James Hocking, 74, of Rapid River, died Monday afternoon of a heart attack. When he was stricken a relative rushed him to St. Francis Hospital by car, but Mr. Hocking was dead on arrival.

Born Jan. 3, 1879 in England, Mr. Hocking was brought to the United States by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Hocking, Sr., when he was two years old. In 1935 he married Florence Sheffer in Gladstone.

Mr. Hocking was a miner who worked in mines both in the Copper Country and in Arizona. Several years ago he returned to Delta county and at various times lived in Brampton and in Rapid River.

His wife survives him, as do a brother, Chester, of Plymouth, and two sisters, Ida of Detroit and Mrs. Alfred (Flora) Mitchell, Calumet.

The body is at Kelley Funeral Home. Funeral services will be conducted by Rev. Meldon Crawford Thursday afternoon at 2 in the funeral home chapel. Burial will be in Fernwood Cemetery.

Avenue Goes Green

NEW YORK (AP)—Fifth Avenue will be transformed into a river of green today for the traditional St. Patrick's Day parade.

An estimated 80,000 to 100,000 marchers will start parading up the avenue at noon from 44th Street to 96th Street. The participants will be guided by a freshly painted emerald strip up the center of the street.
